

When the XM Radio started offering the instant traffic and weather, I quickly realised how indispensable this service would become. I now, before driving anywhere, tune to my XM station to find out which would be the best route to my destination. Before my trip to Orlando, I listened to the weather and knew what to pack. The information they provide is often more comprehensive than that offered on our local station, KYW. This may not make KYW programmers happy. Remember, competition is the American way. How else can services be improved unless competition drives providers to excellence? I am thrilled with the service provided by XM Radio and look forward to many years of their innovative and unrestricted programming. By paying for this service, I am obtaining that which is driven by consumer satisfaction. If I don't like what they do at XM they lose my business. That will keep them trying hard to please me. So far they have succeeded. If it works..don't fix it! Thank you FCC for listening and please REJECT the NAB's petition 04-160.
